Crook County schools expand food service during COVID-19 closure

Meal program to serve over 150 children each weekday

Food services and transportation leaders are teaming up to ensure students in the Crook County School District (CCSD) receive meals through spring break. Starting Tuesday, March 17th, students can pick up two meals per day (breakfast and lunch) at nine different locations.

The food deliveries will occur Monday through Friday and CCSD will continue the meal program if school closures are extended beyond spring break. The food will be delivered on CCSD buses between 12pm-1pm each weekday. There will be a food station at Pioneer School on 1st Street.

“School closures can put enormous stress on families who rely on basic meals,” said Superintendent, Dr. Sara Johnson. “It’s important that we continue serving our students even if they can’t be in the classroom.”

Here are the specific times and locations where the meals will be delivered. The buses will be at each location for approximately 10 minutes.
